GEORGE SIDNEY and his company of twenty or more people pleased a comfortably filled house with his "Busy Izzy" at the Grand last night. Carrie Webber far outshone every member of the company and was a greater contributor to the success of the show than Sidney himself. There is no connecting last night's production with the original creation fifteen years ago. The character of Izzy Marks and several minor parts, exceptionally well handled, are the only traces left of the "Busy Izzy" of long ago. Sidney's characterization is as good as ever, but the "old man" has lost some of his "pep" and his shambling about the stage lacked the fire of youth.

The chorus was excellent and all the musical numbers pleasing. Several tuneful novelties introduced were well received and on the whole the audience gave frequent evidence of being perfectly satisfied with the production.

"The traveling Salesman," which will be shown at the Grand tomorrow. The chief purpose of the piece is to explode the prevalent theory that "no body loves a fat man." Thousands who saw the stage version by the Hippodrome players during the present season can now see the piece as interpreted by the original star, Frank McIntyre, and a capable cast. They will not be disappointed by the screen version of this genial comedy drama which tells a story of good cheer and warm hearts against a wintry background.

As for Frank McIntyre, the traveling salesman, he is best described in the words of Mrs. Babbitt, who exclaims, "He's only a drummer, dearie, and kinder plump, but, my lands, he's awful engaging." One misses his characteristic voice, of course, and the inarticulate bits of stage business but in spite of these limitations, he has succeeded in transferring all of the drummer's droll personality to the screen. Doris Kenyon as the little telegraph girl, gives a refreshing picture of naive girlhood, and Julie Stuart is also delightful as the brusque but lovable Mrs. Babbitt.

Bryant Washburn with a good supporting cast is billed at the Nelson today in "Aladdin Up-to-date." Besides this headliner there is a Cennated Nooz Pictorial and a rollicking comedy called "A Furniture Deal."

Howe's Travel Pictures will be shown at the Grand on the twenty-fifth.

"A Woman Alone" is the Grand photoplay scheduled for today. Alice Brady gives a performance that is consistent with the role she portrays. The supporting cast assist her admirably, especially Edward T. Langford as Tom Blaine and Arthur Ashley as Stephen Carter. The story rests principally on the shoulders of these three. Edward M. Kimball does a small part well.

The direction of the material supplied by the story is well handled. The scenes track along in good sequence and the photography is very well done.

A young married woman leaves her fireside because of the unbroken loneliness save for her husband's presence. She is pursued by the son of the president of the railroad which employs her husband as station agent at the forsaken place. The girl spurns the rich young man's advances. There is a compromising situation or two. However, the couple are reconciled and they resume the same happy existence, with no thoughts for anyone but each other. The final reel of the picture is trite and evidently is only used to please those people who are fond of familiar melodramatic happy endings.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY AT ONCE.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. You can surely have pretty, charming lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

drome is excellent. There is ample variety and the four acts are all of the big time caliber. The Three Rosaires in a delightful wire novelty act are a big feature of the bill. Felix Haney is a pleasing comedian and Lew and Grace Palmer in a delightful rural comedy have caught on with the crowds and the liberal applause accorded them was conclusive evidence that their acts are well liked. Grace Wasson, in singing and dancing specialties is also a winner and her act went over big. The same combination will remain at the Hippo for the balance of the week, giving three performances daily. OLD STAGER.

BITS OF STATE NEWS

That there are thousands of acres of land suitable for agricultural purposes in possession of various big coal companies of the state, which will be cultivated this summer is promised by officers of these companies. Some of this land is suitable for grazing purposes, some of it for wheat and much of it for growing potatoes and other vegetables. The companies are indicating their desire to do their part in bringing West Virginia to the front as an agricultural state, and many of them are offering desirable prizes to their men who grow the finest gardens in fact this has been a practice with some of these companies for several years.

A recent opinion rendered by the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia, it was decided that a carrier is bound to deliver goods entrusted to it for shipment at the place of destination named in the contract, and cannot compel the owner to accept them elsewhere. Even though a consignee does not call for them within such time after arrival as will prevent expiration of the carrier's liability as a carrier, the latter is bound to hold them at the place of destination as a warehouseman for a reasonable time.

There will be little or no professional baseball in West Virginia this year. The movement to form a state league has practically failed. There will be semi-professional teams in nearly every city, and in many of the mining centers, and these will play independently throughout the summer. Particularly in the thriving mining towns, there will be some strong teams. Most of the players will be given office employment, with the understanding that they will represent that particular locality in all games played. Games by such teams in former seasons, frequently attracted crowds reaching into the thousands.

When Dr. J. S. Shaffer, of Cannelton, issued a call the other day for volunteers to form a military company at Montgomery, there were 66 responses, and that number of persons, some of them middle-aged men, went through the regulation drill maneuvers prescribed for the army. Dr. Shaffer is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, and expects to have a well-drilled and perfectly disciplined company of soldiers ready for service for the country within a very short time. The second drill brought out such an addition see how 'Gets-It' gets them off in a hurry and without the least pain. I can wear tight shoes, dance and walk as though I never had corns." "Gets-It" makes the use of irritating salves, bandaging, taping, plastering and other things not only foolish but unnecessary. Use this wonderful discovery, "Gets-It," for any soft or hard corn or callus. It is the new, simple, easy, quick way, and it never fails. You'll never have to cut a corn again with knives or scissors, and run chances of blood poisoning. Try "Gets-It" tonight. "Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. It is doubted if the workmen's compensation department will ever resume the payment of awards for children of Austro-Hungary, even after the war, unless a change is made by the government of that double country, in the method of distributing the money. According to the laws at present all money sent there for the benefit of children of persons killed in West Virginia industries is held by the government until the beneficiaries shall have attained the age of 24 years. In that way the children are deprived of the help that the West Virginia laws provides they shall have when they need it most. It was not learned until a few days before the war was declared by the United States, that the children of those counties did not get immediate benefits, and the Austro-Hungarian consul has been asked to bring about a means of giving the children the money immediately.

County authorities are investigating the reported threats against the life of Rev. J. B. Simpson, a Keystone pastor, by residents of the Cinder Bottom community. It is said that the minister had received numerous notes in which he was directed to stop his campaign against vice there. On a recent evening, it is said, he was called from his home by a number of men, who made verbal threats to take his life unless he did not change the tones of his sermons.

Although Monday of this week was a public health day, given importance by a proclamation by the governor, the whole of the week is being observed throughout West Virginia by citizens generally as "Clean-up week." Incident to the observance of "clean-up week" this year, the department of health has called attention to the needs of the towns in the state as follows: Medical inspection of school children; dairy inspection; clean milk supply; better control over contagious disease; pure water supply to prevent typhoid; visiting nurses for public health work; Red Cross society for preparedness; cleaner stores; fine foods are sold; more efficient health department; active anti-tuberculosis campaign; in-

Meat is used nearly every day in most households. There are other foods that give as much nourishment for less money. These include cheese, beans, peas and nuts. Many people feel they must have meat every day. It is therefore important to know how to get the most out of meat at the least cost. The toughest cuts are the cheapest, but they are just as nutritious as the expensive cuts. By long, slow cooking they can be made very tender and palatable.

In order to keep in the juice and preserve the flavor, heat the meat on all sides, press it down quickly on a hot pan, then cook it slowly on a low fire. One can always use the bone, fat
